A Little While.

Photographer, A little while, and quiet shall begin; Be with us while we wait, O Holy Friend

That fill our lives with longing and regret
May vex with feverish impulse heart and brain
Then we shall weariness and strife forget.

A little while, and all this vague unrest Shall cease in sweet and noiseless quietude; The still hands folded o'er a pulseless breast, With ev'ry fear and hope alike subdued.

A little while—"it is a little while," That we must seek with hungry-soul'd That joy or sorrow can our thoughts beguile,
And love or hate have power to move us ever

And we shall enter to return no more.

Talking Without Speaking.

[In a little book entitled "School Stories," prepared for the Deaf and Dumb by Mr. John R. Keep, of Hart ford, we find the following. Doubtless many have heard it before, but the simplicity of the language used here seems to be peculiarly adapted to the compre hension of the majority of our readers : "The chief clerk of a bank in London and his wife used often to amuse them selves by talking to each other as the deaf and dumb do, making the letters and words with their fingers. They did not learn to talk in this way because These words, though not a literal did it for sport. It happened that the bank in which the clerk was, took fire into a safe in a closet of the room pears to be strictly natural to the deaf which the clerk slept. The Secretary of the Treasury, on Taursday, negotiated the balance of the five per cent. loan, the syndicate of Amerthree hundred millions.

The Utica Herald's correspondent writes: The leadership of the Republican side of the Assembly seems to be a matter of dispute between Messrs. Pierson of Albany, Husted of Westchester, Prince of Queens, Alberger of Erie, and Fort of Oswego. They are all able men, and no to the others.

P. T. Gilmore, of Boston, is in Wash ington pushing a scheme for the organization of a national band on a large scale, similar to the court band in Europe.

The City of Antwerp brought 257 mail sacks, the largest single mail ever received in New York. Of this number, 123 bags are for New Zealand, via San Francisco.

The small-pox epidemic has reached such a hight in Baltimore as to have alarmed the authorities and the inhabitants generally. There were 119 deaths for the week ending January 20, and there are at the present time 1,300 cases. Boston has also suffered terribly, but the disease there is reported as having passed

The grand jury of the United States District Court, now in session at Albany, have found indictments against Susan B. Anthony and fifteen women for illegal voting, at the late election, and against three inspectors of election for receiving their votes.

Senator Sumner, although able to sit up most of the time, is still quite feeble, and it is doubtful if he will appear in his seat in the Senate again this session. His attending physician still visits him twice daily. His last call being at 10 o'clock in the evening when he injects morphine into the Senator's arm to enable him to

The Senate on Thursday appropriated $30,000 to pay the expenses of the Committee on Privilege and Elections for their investigations of the elections is Louisiana, Kansas, and Arkansas. In the House several more investigations were ordered to see if members of Congress were not interested in certain railroad legislation. The Consular and Diplomtiac Appropriation bills were discussed, as also the Senate's amendment to to the Vienna Exposition Appropriation bill, which was cut down from $300,000 to $200,000.

Senate on Friday-Mr. Anthony was chosen President of the Senate pro tem. A bill was reported for a pneumatic tube road from New York to Chicago. At the expiration of the morning hour consideration of the legislative, executive and diplomatic appropriation bill, to which several amendments were offered, provokican bankers uniting and taking the whole ring a long discussion, was resumed. Without action on the bill the Senate, after a short executive session, adjourned. the House adjourned.

In the examination of Oakes Ames be fore Judge Poland's Committee on Saturday, Mr. Ames produced a receipt signed by S. W. Patterson for $1,800 worth of dividends, and another for 200 shares of the Union Pacific Railroad Company and $754.34 in cash on account of Credit Mobilier stock. He also presented and read a letter from Mr. Patterson-written since the investigation began—in which Mr. Ames is asked to correct his original statement before the Committee, as "it must not be reported as it now stands." The only additional name given by Mr. Ames of Congressmen who had received stock and money from him was that of John A. Logan.

In the Senate on Monday, the bills authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to refund differential duties on articles actually on shipboard in French vessels destined for the United States on November 5, 1872, and to require national banks to restore their capital when impaired and to amend the national currency act, were passed. The committee on public buildings and grounds were instructed to inquire into the expediency of making any use of the present Execuis now devoted and of taking any steps to provide another residence for the President of the United States.

In the House a bill was passed under uspension of the rules declaring the abolishes the franking privilege after July 1, 1873., without reservation.

The ex-Empress Eugenie has decided to leave Chiselhurst, to reside in some other part of England. Oscar II., the new king of Sweden is to be crowned on the 10th of May. Much uneasiness is felt in England on account of the refusal of Russia to accept the boundary of Afghanistan, designated by England. The legitimist journals of Paris give Duke de Nemours as authority for the statement that a union has been completed between the Bourbons and and Orleanists, and that the Count de Chambord has been recognized as the rightful King of France. At a meeting held at Birmingham England, at which the mayor presided, esolutions were passed asking the English government to support the United States in their demand on Spain for the abolition of slavery.

In reply to the question what measures the government was taking to prevent emigration, asked by the German House of Deputies, the minister of the interior replied the government was endeavoring to improve the condition of and elevate the people.

While the Northfleet, an emigrant ship bound from London to Hobart Town was lying at anchor two miles off Dungeness, on Thursday midnight, she was run into by an unknown steamship and cut down to the water's edge. The panic which ensued was so dreadful that the captain had to use his pistol on the most disorderly, and the vessel sunk so rapidly that out of 412 souls on board only ninety-seven are reported saved, the captain being among the lost.

The opinion is becoming general that the vessel which ran into the North Fleet also went down, with all hands, before the emigrant shipsunk. The owner of the Spanish steamship Murillo, who landed at Dover two hours before the collision occurred, believes it was his vessel which was in collision with the North Fleet, and that both were destroyed.

BITTERS. S. T .-- 1860--- X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachies. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Or Sugar-Coated Concentrated Root and Herbat Juice. Anti-Bilious Granules. The "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo

CATHARTIC, or Multum in Purvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive and nauseous pills, composed of chesp, crude and bulky ingredients, when we can by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fasticious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for saic in the drug shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in proportion to their size, the people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect, but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a mast searching and thorough, yet gentle and limity operating cathartic.

3500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any Calomel or other forms

HOLLOWAY'S Holloway's Ointment,

The grand principle that operates in these wonderful medicines, is the power that they posess in purifying the turgid blood, and expelling sorrupt humors from the system.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS consist of a careful and peculiar admixture of the finest Vegetable Extracts, Herbs, and Medicinal Gums. Posessing not a grain of mineral in their combines. sessing not a grain of mineral in their combina-tion, they never expose those who use them to any danger, at any time or season. No mother need hesitate to prescribe them to and the most delicate constitutions can use them with as great a benefit as the most vigorous and powerful frame.

A COMPLIMENT TO CANAL AUDITOR DAYTON .- "Sentinel," the Albany correspondent of the New York World. thus refers to Auditor Dayton's report:

"Mr. Dayton's report is a valuable and interesting volume—a history of the canal situation and of the progress it has made. It might be useful to inquire how many of the very many gentlemen in New York city who believe themselves intelligent and advised of events. ever examined such a record. A real student might safely consult its pages and find the living hour of this great work well set forth-a great work even if it has outlived its cycle. By it we get the broad and accurate truths of this chapter in finance, and it has enduring value beyond an ephemeral statement."

WHEN GAME MAY BE TAKEN AND Sold.—As it may be of importance to many, we present the following compiled synopsis of the game laws of the State, showing when to expose and sell different descriptions of game : Deer, moose, elk, earibou and wild deer may be killed and exposed for sale from September 1 to Nov. 10, except in the counties of Suffolk, Kings and Queens, in which counties the killing of the above animals is prohibited by law for five years from 1871. All descriptions of wild duck and wild geese are in season from September 1 until May 1; woodcock from July 3 until January 1; quail from October 20 until Jan. 1; ruffled rouse or partridge, pennated grouse or prairie chicken from September 1 until January 1 brown thrashers, meadow larks or starlings from Aug. 1 to January 1.

"ANDY" GARVEY'S "BROWN STONE." -The New York Times of Saturday says: The Oswego Falls Brown Stone Company are suing Andrew J. Garvey to recover $2.501.60 for brown stone which the Company claim they sold to Garvey in August, 1871. Garvey says the stone was delivered and used for the new Court-house. Plaintiffs made motion in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, to put the cause on the short calendar. The motion was denied on an affidavit setting forth that the trial of the cause must necessarily occupy more than one hour.

Our experience has taught us that the people have now more officers than they can conveniently watch and take care of, and we nad supposed that we were not worthy of so great an office after what occurred the 5th of November last in our town. Sheriff Lyman must either be very forgiving, or else he has a grudge which he is bound to execute. As we want to be charitable, we think he must be forgiving. Letter from South Carolina.

Mr. Humphries-Dear Sir: I have arrived in the "sunny south" and can say that I am very much pleased with the climate. On the day of my arrival (Friday) a cold wind was blowing from the north, which I had to face twenty miles in an old lumber wagon. Southern style harness consists of hames and traces and rope lines. I chanced to come across this team which had been down with cotton bales. We jogged along four miles when one of the wagon wheels gave way. I happened to have my tools on board. and in about an hour I mended it and we moved along. It is all pitch pine plains here; the soil sand mixed with a ittle clay which makes a splendid road -always dry, and is adapted to corn. oats, wheat and cotton, and, on moist land rice as good as you can buy at your stores. It is all plantations : you pass through a piece of woods-say half a mile-then you come to a plantation—sometimes a mile, then again two miles, and I did go as far as three on that journey of twenty miles out into a plantation. I find the Southerners all friendly people. When It is difficult to preserve a decent I had gone twelve miles I put up at a Southerner's and let the team go on as it was eight o'clock and was bitter cold. The weather commenced moderating too. The sun shines almost all the time, and it has been warm for five days so I've had to put on thinner pants and take off my coat to work. I have it off all day, as I am at work on the church-commenced Tuesday the 14th inst. We had thunder and lightning last evening, the 16th inst., and heavy rain. It is very warm this morning, while I am writing with the windows open, and the doors, with no fire. I have to throw off the bed clothes, it being extremely warm, and then it is hard work to sleep. The mail goes on Friday, once a week, and it is five miles away. This is no place for a mechanic unless he is a foreman on jobs. E. S. TICKNER Darlington, Jan. 17, 1873.

Go to Ballard's for your Oysters,

Spanish View of the Indian War.

HAVANA, Jan 27 .- The Rose De Cuba in an editorial in its issue of Saturday says the defeat of the U.S. troops, by the Modoc Indians, is certainly a fact that does not honor much the arms of the Great Republic. This war of extermination has been sustained more years between civilized Americans, and the Indians than our own war against those who wished to drive us from our homes and country. This Indian war wounds humanity in its noblest sentiments, and a scandal to this country's humanita rian sensibilities, being so close to the frontiers of his Catholic Majesty, he ought to in his next speech to the Cortes to indicate to the members how much the Spanish people are affected by the proceedings of the American government, against the poor Indians, and should tell the whole world that this fight is against -Be careful about yielding to the a race who are the possessors of the land where from they are to be exterminated. The King might also indicate to Mr. Grant the means he ought to employ to civilize instead of exterminate the In-

STATISTICS—from England show that there is a most alarming increase in the consumption of intoxicating liquor in that country. Crime keeps pace with the increase of liquor drinking, thus presenting a picture that is not at all pleasant for the contemplation of the inhabitants of thatisland. Criminal statistics show that last year, as compared with the ten preceding years, there was an increase of forty per cent. in the convictions for being drunk and disorderly, The increase has been steady and continuous and is very alarming. A law passed two years ago placing habitual criminals under close and stringent supervision of the police, has had the effect of reducing the number of grave crimes but lighter offenses have increased greatly. Those are mostly attributed to the increase of drunkenness. A Pious Clown.—Just at the conclusion of a recent circus performance in a North Carolina town, the clown stepped forward and informed the vast assembly that they had taken in about $600 that day-more money, he ventured to say, than any minister of the Gospel in that county would receive for a year's service. He then plainly told them that a large portion of the audience were church members, who would plead their poverty when asked for money to support the Gospel, and severely exposed their inconsistency. A few Sundays after, he preached in the same community, and made a strong appeal for missions, when a collection was taken up amounting to $438. The following is told by an eye witness: When Mr. Seward was in Constantinople he received higher honors than any prince or potentate had ever received from a Turkish sultan. Such distinction was accorded to his age and distinguished service to his country. The Sultan not only granted a personal interview, an unprecedented favor to a private individual, but as a further token of good will and a compliment to "the nation of pencil case, which now awaits its owner in handshakers," extended his hand in our office. greeting. Literary Notices.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY-has won a deserved reoutation for the excellence of its illustrations, which, next to those of the Aldine Press, are the pest specimens of wood engraving that have apneared in any American periodical. The cuts which illustrate the article on "The Tehuantepec Canal," and that entitled "In and Around Bangkok," are especially good. "How Men learned to Analyze the Sun" is an illustrated description of the spectroscope and the great results it has been instrumental in accomplishing. In a paper on the "Marriage Question." Mr. Philip Gilbert Hamerton arrives at the conclusion that an artist had better marry a commonplace, home-loving, and affectionate woman rather than one who will endeavor to keep pace with his intellectual progress. Mr. Noah Brooks' description of the "San Rafael Phalanstery" is a satire, and an unusually brilliant and just one. Dr. Holland's serial, "Arthur Bonnicastle," is continued, and Miss Phelps contributes a short story entitled "Since I Died." Among the contributors of poems Mr. George Macdonald's name appears, but the best poem in the number is decidedly Miss Mary L. Ritter's "Sheaves." "It's no place for a woman," said young husband in Lawrence, Kansas, to his wife, when she, tired of staying alone, took her three little children to the billiard-room, and seated herself by his side. "It's disgraceful," said he look ing daggers at her. "I know it," replied the wife: "and you have borne the disgrace so long, my dear, that I am determined henceforth to share it with you, and she took out her knitting work and settled down for the evening. Her husband persisted in urging her to go home. "I will go," said she, "when you go." He was evidently disconcerted in his playing and went home earlier than usual. The next evening the programme was all acted over again. This time the husband went home a little earlier than before, and carried the baby himself .-This was the last time he was ever seen in the billiard-room.

Did you see a woman who was possessed by the house-cleaning fiend-not periodically, but at all times who would go about drawing her finger over every lounge, and table and chair, peering into cracks and crannies for crooked pins and lint, holding tumblers up to the light for finger-marks; in short, so utterly absorbed in the pursuit of dirt that every other pursuit was as nothing in comparison? Now, being New England born, I know what neatness is, and value it as only a New Englander; but when it takes such a shape as this and robs life of all its charms, I turn my back upon it with righteous disgust. Who thanks these zealous furies for their self-imposed labor? Certainly not their husbands. who flee into corners from dust-pans and dust-brushes, and weary of the recital of their prowess day by day. Certainly not their children, who have no place to stow away their little sacred property in the shape of bright bits of silk or paper or broken cups, which are dear and pre-cious to them, and should always be held in respect within proper limits.

O ye careful and troubled Marthas of the household! stop and take breath. Place a flower on the mantel, that you and your household may perhaps have some in your lives. While you stop to rest, read. So shall the cobwebs be brushed from your neglected brain, and you shall learn that something else be sides cleanliness is necessary to make home really home for those dependent on your care.

Throw your broom out of doors, take your children by the hand, and let the fresh wind touch your wrinkled forehead. If your house is wound up to such an immaculate pitch of cleanliness, it can run on a few hours without your care Laugh and talk with them, or, better still, listen to their foolish-wise talk Bring home a bit of gingerbread for each of them. Put on the freshest dress you have, and ask your husband when he comes in if he recognizes his wife.

"I wish my mother looked as pretty as you," said a bright little girl one day to a neighbor.

"But your mamma is much prettie than I," replied the neighbor. Truth was, that the child's mother was always in a wrapper, unless company was expected. The rest of the time she was under dominion of the house-cleaning fiend, and the children fled from such a joyless, utilitarian home, where no flower of beauty could ever get time to root and

There is little need to misinterpret my meaning. Many a ruined life has come of a joyless home. Your children take to the sunlight as naturally as do the flowers. Shut it out of your houses, and they will go abroad in search of it; you may be sure of that. Isn't this worth thinking about, O ye mothers, careful and troubled about many things and yet so blind to your first and greatest duty? --- Fanny Fern.

Canning Milk.

A lady who has tried the experiment informs us that milk can be canned in winter like fruit. When new scald over a kettle of water and put in the cans while hot; seal up and keep in the celand when opened it was found as good as when put up. Others were afterwards kept much longer. This will be a great convenience to small farmers who are without milk towards spring, especially in neighborhoods where it cannot be bought.

Bunker Hill Monument and Associa-tions.

The corner stone of this renowned structure was laid by Gen. Lafayette on the seventeenth of June, 1825, that day being the fifteenth anniversary of the battle fought on the same spot. The building of the monument was com-menced in 1827; and at six o'clock on the morning of July twenty-third, 1842, the last stone was placed on the top.— This stone is three feet and six inches thick, and four feet square at the base, weighing two and one half tons. The ascended by two hundred and ninety-five steps. The monument stands on Breed's hill. Orders were given to fortify Bunker hill, but by mistake Breed's hill was Parlor, fortified, and the battle fought thereon. From this point one can behold, in full new, four cities, and a score of villages mingle in the scene. Among the cities een is renowned (although now sadly crippled) Boston, with its collossal strucures, the houses of Commerce, Education and Art. Seen as it was October first, 1872, the beholder had a fine view of the Colliseum, among whose lofty niches the mind of fancy might almost think the notes struck at the great Jubilee were yet echoing. Seen far below, the city of Charlestown becomes to the artistic eye a collossal picture. Far away to the south are seen the great granite hills of Quiney, and many other features of the small territory, which is In fact everything pertaining to this haps no other spot in America can so closely associate the mind with the acts and the actors of its history. A friend of mine told me a story a little while ago which interested me so much that I want to tell it to all my little friends. This gentleman owned a fine horse, which was very fond of him, and would come from the pasture at the sound of his voice, and follow him about like a dog. Well, at one time the horse became lame, and was obliged to stay in the stable and not be used for many weeks, and it was during this time that Mr. C. became interested to see how much the horse knew. An old cat had made her nest upon the scaffold just above the horse's manger, and had placed there her little family of five kittens. She and the horse got on nicely for some days. She jumped down into his manger and went off after food, and then came back and leaped up to her kittens again. But one morning she rolled off into the manger, with her foot bleeding, and badly hurt, so that she could scarcely way to live comfortably in America is to crawl; but she managed to leap away on live rudely and simply;" and while we three feet and get her breakfast; but Farmers and Citizens should not like to agree to his statement when she came back she was entirely unable to get up to her kittens and it must be acknowledged, in which we do you think she did?
